

SACANDAGA

What is Camp Sacandaga?

Camp Sacandaga is an old fashion traditional summer camp where kids disconnect from technology and re-connect with themselves, each other and the world around them. Our intentionally small community, guided by our director and supported by our staff and volunteers, will nurture and challenge our campers in traditional tech free summer experiences. Through Kindness, Respect and Responsibility, children will gather life skills needed to make them healthy, caring and productive adults.

Founded in 2016, it's goal has been to create affordable programs for positive youth development, strengthen camper's interpersonal skills, independence and increase their appreciation for the Adirondacks, all in a traditional summer camp program free of technology.

We are a traditional summer camp; campers will sing songs, perform in skits at the talent show, play in all camp games, share experiences around the campfire; learning solid skills that kids need to be healthy productive adults. All while making friends that will last a lifetime

All of the camp programs and philosophy will revolve around three key principles ... Kindness, Respect and Responsibility.

Kindness- We have one major rule at camp -Be kind to each other.

Respect - We stress that campers need to respect themselves, each other, the camp and the environment.

Responsibility- We feel when a camper is given responsibilities, they become more independent.

Through Kindness, Respect and Responsibility, campers gather life skills that kids need to become healthy productive adult.
